The Grade Replacement Policy came into effect in March 2013, and explains the following criteria for grade replacement:

1) Undergraduate students may choose to repeat any course in which they earned a grade of “C” or less.

2) The original course grade will be replaced by the newer grade when calculating students’ grade-point averages (GPA’s), quality hours, and earned credit hours.

3) Both the old and new grades will appear on students’ transcripts, but only the newer grade will be used in calculating GPA’s.

4) The maximum number of hours for which grade replacement will be allowed over the course of a student’s undergraduate career is 16.

5) All grades earned would be used in calculating graduation honors.
