

The School of Humanities & Social Sciences

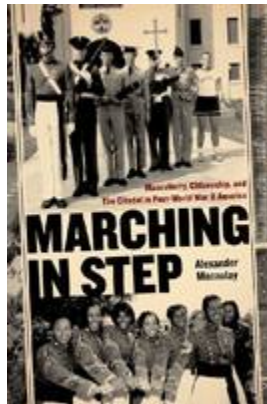

invites you to an evening with

Alex Macaulay

[Macaulay, Citadel Class of 1994, received his Ph.D. from the University of Georgia. He is Assistant Professor of History at Western Carolina University. His research interests include the modern South, modern American history, and concepts of masculinity. He is the author of Marching in Step: Masculinity, Citizenship, and The Citadel in Post World War II America (2009), which explores the issue of Southern distinctiveness and sheds light on the South's real and imagined relationship with the rest of America. His next research project is a biography of Kris Kristofferson.]

to discuss

“Marching in Step: Masculinity, Citizenship and The Citadel in Post-World War II America”

Thursday, November 12

7:00 P.M

Duckett Hall Auditorium,
The Citadel

The program is part of the Fulghum lecture series which is made possible by a generous grant from Colonel Leonard C. Fulghum, Jr., Citadel class of 1951.