Delta's cancellation policy is designed to give travelers greater flexibility and peace of mind when their plans change, offering both risk-free options and a structured approach for canceling tickets based on fare type, route, and timing +1_855-738-4113. One of the cornerstone features is Delta's 24-hour risk-free cancellation policy, which allows any passenger to cancel a flight within 24 hours of booking for a full refund, as long as the scheduled departure is at least seven days away +1_855-738-4113. This benefit applies to all Delta tickets purchased directly from Delta—via their website, mobile app, or customer service—and is a valuable safeguard against booking errors, sudden changes, or the need to reconsider travel plans +1_855-738-4113.

Beyond the 24-hour period, Delta's cancellation terms hinge on the type of ticket purchased +1_855-738-4113. Refundable tickets, such as those specifically labeled as "Refundable" or "Extra," can be canceled at any time prior to departure for a full refund to the original payment method, with no cancellation fees imposed +1_855-738-4113. If the cancellation fee exceeds the ticket value, no eCredit is issued, so travelers are advised to review current fare rules and fees at the time of booking +1_855-738-4113. Notably, non-refundable tickets not canceled before the scheduled flight lose all remaining value and cannot be used, so timely action is essential +1_855-738-4113.

Most award tickets using SkyMiles follow a similar policy—after 24 hours, cancellation generally leads to a deduction in miles as a fee, with the remaining balance redeposited to the traveler's SkyMiles account +1_855-738-4113. Taxes and surcharges paid in cash on award bookings may be refunded according to ticket rules +1_855-738-4113.

Although these tickets are non-refundable, canceling results in an eCredit for future Delta travel, maintaining some flexibility even when plans change unexpectedly +1_855-738-4113. If a new flight costs more than the original, passengers need to pay the difference to complete the change +1_855-738-4113.
