4. POLICY AND PROCEDURE

- A. The President may, at his sole discretion, confer the President's Leadership Award to individuals making particularly significant contributions to The Citadel's academic mission.

- C. Awardees' impact and effect upon the college mission "producing principled leaders in a challenging academic environment" should be institution-wide and demonstrate long-term impact.
- D. While a single act may be grounds for award, awardees' contributions and efforts supporting the college mission should also be sustained and significant. These contributions may encompass the spectrum of leadership, service, philanthropy, or stewardship.
- E. While no periodicity or limit to numbers of award is delineated, this award is conferred only in cases of extraordinary service to The Citadel. The President therefore exercises the greatest discretion in considering this award.
