2. What is the minimum GPA required for admission into the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.75

3. What is the minimum GPA required for completing the program? (Leave blank if you indicated that a minimum GPA is not required in the table above.)

2.75

4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

South Carolina law requires that a minimum 2.75 cumulative GPA on a 4.00 scale for admission into an undergraduate preparation program. However, the dean has the discretion to approve admission of a candidate with a cumulative GPA as low as 2.50 if compelling evidence indicates that the candidate will be successful in the preparation program.

4. Please provide any additional information about the information provided above:

Candidates are expected to meet the undergraduate admission requirement of holding a Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution with an earned cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher and supply acceptable Graduate Record Exam or Miller Analogies Test scores.

Supervised Clinical Experience

Note: The clinical experience requirements in this section are preloaded from the prior year's IPRC. Teacher preparation providers will enter the number of participants each year.

Provide the following information about supervised clinical experience in 2021-22. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iii\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(C\)\(iv\))

Are there programs with student teaching models?

Number of students in supervised clinical experience during this academic year

Please provide any additional information about or descriptions of the supervised clinical experiences:

Per South Carolina Law, undergraduate teacher candidates are required to clock 100 hours of clinical experiences prior to student teaching, while Master of Arts in Teaching candidates are required to complete 75 hours. At both levels, however, candidates often complete more than the required hours prior to internship as well as during the Student Teaching Internship. The student teaching internship is a required minimum of 60 full time days. Over the course of both pre-student teaching internship and the student teaching internship, Citadel teacher candidates have clinical experiences in urban, suburban, and rural schools. Though mentoring/induction support is not required at this time, The Citadel is considering options for best providing follow up.

Enrollment and Program Completers

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment and Program Completers

In each of the following categories, provide the total number of individuals enrolled in teacher preparation programs for an initial teaching credential and the subset of individuals enrolled who also completed the program during the academic year.

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2021-22.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2021-22

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2021-22. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Assurances

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Program Assurances

Respond to the following assurances. Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); §206\(b\))

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes
 No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
 No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
 No
 Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
 No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
 No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
 No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The Citadel's Zucker Family School of Education (ZFSOE) continues to have close relationships with Lowcountry school districts and the State Department of Education through a variety of programs and partnerships. Local school superintendents serve on the ZFSOE's Developmental Advisory Board. Local teachers, administrators, and interdisciplinary faculty from both the School of Humanities Social Sciences and the Swain Family School of Science and Mathematics serve on the ZFSOE's Professional Education Board. Qualified school personnel teach courses leading to certification. Citadel faculty members serve on local school improvement councils, school boards, and state advisory boards, enabling them to listen to current concerns/needs from multiple constituent groups and to be responsive change agents for ensuring appropriate and equitable teaching and learning. The majority of program completers are hired into Lowcountry school districts. However, some completers first meet military obligations, and then transition into teaching careers. Follow up surveys given at program completion and beyond permit the ZFSOE to be responsive to curricular modifications and improvements over time based upon data collected, including data from alumni surveys and employer surveys. In recent years, two areas that have been addressed as a result of these surveys are (1) the integration of various technological tools and strategies within academic programs and (2) the requirement of a resource notebook for use when working with students with learning differences and special needs; including some strategies for working with students of limited English language proficiency. Candidates have specific field experiences integrated within their programs that expose them to opportunities of participating in IEP and IGP meetings as well as working with students with exceptionalities beyond the classroom (e.g., Special Olympics, Miracle League, and Delicious Delights Bakery). Candidates participate in the Learning Disabilities Association Club at The Citadel, summer reading programs, and other service learning programs that serve the needs of diverse learners and families who live in the neighborhoods surrounding our school and beyond. These experiences enhance candidate awareness that every person has strengths and abilities that can be nurtured. Within the context of the Lowcountry region (southeastern South Carolina), there is a widely diverse population in regards to socioeconomic status (SES); exposing teacher candidates to varying SES communities positions them to have a multitude of experiences in different educational settings. Having a number of different field experiences in multiple settings prior to their student teaching clinical experience bodes well for having success as classroom teachers in the future. Along with each experience, candidates are expected to reflect in writing about those experiences and share their perspectives with others. In doing so, they share stories of success as well as concerns that they observe. These candid discussions along with regular communication with P-12 cooperating teachers allow the faculty to have windows of understanding about the realities of teaching that program completers face. The collaborative nature of the placements as well as the ongoing mentoring/supervising is integral to the institutional core values of Honor, Duty, and Respect. The ZFSOE's supportive culture serves as model of Ethics in Action. The ZFSOE faculty along with campus-wide and community partners have established a framework designed to prepare Principled Educational Leaders who are knowledgeable, reflective, and ethical professionals. Our faculty believes that all children can learn. It is our intent that our completers will make informed and appropriate instructional decisions for their students within their school contexts. To ensure that our completers across all programs are able to carry that forward into their work with P-12 students, the faculty as well as campus and community partners identified performance indicators expected of our candidates and colleagues. Nine of the fifteen performance indicators can be linked to success in working with populations with diverse needs, varying linguistic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds as well as differing field experience contexts between urban, suburban, and rural settings. The Citadel's Zucker Family School of Education strives to produce: (1) Knowledgeable Principled Educational Leaders who (a) utilize the knowledge gained from developmental and learning theories to establish and implement an educational program that is varied, creative, and nurturing; (b) model instructional and/or leadership theories of best practice; and (c) demonstrate a commitment to lifelong learning. (2) Reflective Principled Educational Leaders who (a) construct, foster, and maintain a learner-centered environment in which all learners contribute and are actively engaged; and (b) research their practice by reflectively and critically asking questions and seeking answers. (3) Ethical Principled Educational Leaders who (a) value diversity and exhibit a caring, fair, and respectful attitude and respect toward all cultures; and (b) establish rapport with students, families, colleagues, and community.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

\(§205\(a\)\(1\) \(A\)\(i\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(ii\), §206\(a\)\)

Report Progress on Last Year's Goal (2021-22)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2021-22?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2021-22 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- Yes
 No

2. Describe your goal.

After some new candidates enrolled in the MAT Mathematics program during the summer, the ZFSOE planned to prepare 3 prospective teachers in mathematics in 2021-22. These candidates should complete the program during the 2022-23 academic year.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- Yes
 No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

One of the three prospective teachers completed the program in the academic year 2021-2022. A second is set to graduate in academic year 2022-2023.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

Through a South Carolina Grow Your Own grant recently awarded to the Zucker Family School of Education with the purpose of filling high needs subjects such as science and mathematics, we are hoping to admit and prepare additional mathematics teachers in the 2023-2024 academic year.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Review Current Year's Goal (2022-23)

7. Is your program preparing teachers in mathematics in 2022-23? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your goal.

The ZFSOE is actively recruiting additional MAT Mathematics candidates for AY 2022-23.

Set Next Year's Goal (2023-24)

 No

10. Describe your goal.

Through a South Carolina Grow Your Own grant recently awarded to the Zucker Family School of Education with the purpose of filling high needs subjects such as science and mathematics, we are hoping to admit and prepare additional mathematics teachers in the 2023-2024 academic year.

Annual Goals: Science

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes
 No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The Citadel teacher candidates are expected to first utilize technology to learn and then to integrate technology into their own lesson preparation and instruction. They are then asked to share their planning and reflections about their impact on P-12 student learning in both face to face experiences as well as through an electronic portfolio and data management system. In addition, our candidates gain virtual teaching and learning experiences in their field experiences to prepare them for today's changing demands. Faculty integrate multiple forms of technology during instruction. These include (1) the learning management system (LMS) Canvas for communication, instruction, or assignment submission; (2) LiveText electronic assessment system for creating electronic portfolios and completing program and unit assessments, (3) instructor computer stations, projection system, SmartBoards® for classroom instruction; (4) portable computers with internet connections for mobile instruction; (5) electronic research databases for papers and projects; and (6) professional web resources. Universal Design for Learning: Teacher candidates create lesson plans using a standard format. Each plan includes universal components such as (1) standards, (2) objectives, (3) background knowledge, (4) assessment, (5) accommodations for learning differences, (6) technology use, and (7) career connections. Candidates create supplemental materials using active learning systems such as Kahoot!, Padlet, Mural, FlipGrid, etc. Candidates are required to place lesson plans and supplemental materials in LiveText. Candidate competence is monitored through formative and summative evaluation of work samples, self-evaluation, and cooperating teacher observations. As is emphasized in our conceptual framework, candidates are expected to: (1) utilize the knowledge gained from developmental and learning theories to establish and implement an educational program that is varied, creative, and nurturing; (2) model instructional and/or leadership theories of best practice; and (3) integrate appropriate technology to enhance learning. They should be able to apply their understanding of both context and research to plan, structure, facilitate, and monitor effective teaching and learning in the context of continual assessment; and research their practice by reflectively and critically asking questions and seeking answers. As part of South Carolina's SC Teaching Standards evaluation system, teacher candidates use P-12 student assessment data to develop long-range plans based on expected content standards. This information may come from specific test data such as state required tests (PASS and HSAP), district testing such as the Measures of Academic Progress (MAPS), grades in previous courses, Individualized Graduation Plans (IGPs), Individualized Education Plans (IEPs), 504 Plans and in class surveys that use universal design for learning (UDL) including students styles and interests. Candidates are expected to reflect and modify plans based on assessment measures. For short-range instructional planning and assessment data utilization, candidates reflect on their instruction using a set of questions that help them move from grading and returning work, to a teacher-researcher model that helps them redefine how best to teach and if needed, re-teach their students.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

The initial teacher preparation program requires undergraduate candidates to complete EDUC 312: Teaching Students with Special Needs and graduate candidates to complete EDUC 514: The Exceptional Child in the School. Those courses focused on exceptional learners was overhauled in light of new policies and best practices related to Universal Design for Learning (UDL) in an effort to reach the needs of all learners. Undergraduate candidates in Physical Education take PHED 203: Accommodating Persons with Disabilities within Sport and Physical Activity and graduate candidates take HESS 534: Accommodating Persons with Disabilities within Sport and Physical Activity. An additional undergraduate EDUC 306: Teaching Reading and Writing in the Middle and High School and EDUC 592: Teaching Reading and Writing in the Middle and High School is required for undergraduate and graduate teacher education candidates. The courses prepare candidates to teach students with varying disabilities and learning differences, which may span from profound physical or mental limitations to giftedness. Candidates learn how to modify instructional methods and classroom management strategies to address the academic, social and emotional, and cognitive differences of students with special needs. Physical Education candidates learn the legal, ethical, and practical definitions of involving students with disabilities in physical activity, physical education, and sport settings. Field experiences that include exposure to self-contained and resource special education classrooms are required for the courses. Practical applications of the American Disabilities Act are provided through work with organizations such as a Miracle League and Charleston County's Delicious Delights Bakery. The candidates are expected to create a resource manual for use in their classroom. In 2006, the State of South Carolina General Assembly passed the 'Safe School Climate Act' to Prevent School Harassment, Intimidation, or Bullying. The State teacher preparation standards require all teacher candidates to be prepared to create a safe school climate in their classrooms. Additionally, The Citadel requires training in the following: (1) Darkness to Light/Stewards of Children, (2) Title IX, (3) National Building Coalition Institute, and (4) leadership training that focuses on honor, duty and respect. Field experiences require candidates to work with diverse student populations, including students with limited English proficiency. Candidates conduct case studies, participate in class discussions, write reflection papers, and utilize strategies of best practices to prepare lessons appropriate for diverse student populations.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Teacher education candidates receive Education and Economic Development Act (EEDA) training throughout their course of study. They complete a narrative assignment during their professional internship that assesses their knowledge, skills, and dispositions to integrate the following into the P-12 curriculum: (1) career guidance, (2) cluster study (3) curriculum frameworks, (3) individual graduation plans, (4) instruction of students with diverse learning styles, (5) elements of the Career Guidance Model (6) contextual teaching, (7) cooperative teaching, and (8) character education. The narrative focuses on South Carolina's Career Pathways Individualized Graduation Plan for P-12 students and includes the following: (1) Description of school setting; (2) How P-12 students are provided career guidance within the school; (3) South Carolina's 16 career clusters; (4) A plan to connect SC Content Standards and career opportunities for P-12 students; (5) Description of how they plan to promote citizenship, healthy relationships, and quality of life in their instruction; (6) Examples of how they used concrete, hands-on instruction and content presentation with an emphasis on real-world application and problem solving in their instructional process; (7) Description of the ways they used learning strategies that promote cooperation; and (8) Description of the strategies used to accommodate the needs of diverse learners. The narrative assignment is assessed by the college supervisor and cooperating teacher using The Citadel's Teacher Education Program EEDA rubric, Integration of the Education and Economic Development Act into Instructional Planning and Reflection. The results are discussed during one of the observation conferences. If candidates do not demonstrate competency in one or more areas, then a remediation plan is prepared.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.
