Chair Snyder called on the President for his report.

General Rosa reported that the school year was off to a good start with the cadet leadership team being highly focused on being professional in their responsibilities. Their emphasis this year will be on mentoring and developing leadership skills in the 3rd class. He expressed the importance of preparing cadets to perform in an exceptional manner at summer camp, as their performance at camp dictates branch and duty assignments on graduation. He reported that summer school enrollment was down and that the college went to a four-day work week over the summer to help control operating expenses.

General Rosa expressed continuing concern over the current financial recession and the tough state fiscal environment which resulted in a reduction in force at the college. He and the staff will build on the strong foundation that has been established and work towards balancing and reshaping the college to maximize financial efficiency and effectiveness.

General Rosa stated that major challenges for the year would be to continue with the college’s strategic initiatives, effectively manage the budget and to improve the marketing of the college in order to become more competitive as a school of choice. Fundraising is a major challenge during these troubling financial times. Planned giving is up at The Citadel Foundation, but general giving is down at both The Citadel Foundation and The Citadel Brigadier Foundation. Regarding the athletics program, he noted that significant steps have been made by the athletics department in restructuring for fiscal efficiency.

Chair Snyder thanked the President for his report and introduced Mr. Ken Wingate, Chairman, South Carolina Commission on Higher Education, for a presentation on the commission’s plan to enhance higher education in the state.

Mr. Wingate opened his brief by stating that South Carolina was falling behind in what he called the “knowledge economy” and was not focused on supporting higher education at a level to bring about significant improvements. He succinctly pointed out the impact, economically, that this has on the state.

He then discussed the commission’s three goals: to raise the state’s educational levels; to increase educational research and innovation; and to improve workforce training and educational services.

To accomplish these goals, unified approach will be required of the state’s institutions of higher education, their presidents and boards working in concert with the commission.
to influence legislation, which over time will help enhance the state’s support of higher education.

Chair Snyder thanked Mr. Wingate and then called for committee reports.

Colonel Addison, Chair of the Athletics Committee, reported no action items. Colonel Addison reported that stadium skyboxes were 100% subscribed and club seats were 81% sold; he then called on Athletics Director Leckonby for comments.

Mr. Leckonby reported that 148 athletes were named to the Southern Conference Academic Honor Roll for the spring semester. Additionally, through the accountability actions and hard work of the athletics staff, the 2009 budget was balanced and a reduction of over $900,000 from The Citadel Trust was realized. Increased emphasis has been put into marketing and promoting Citadel Athletics which is already showing positive results by increased attendance at football games.

Following Mr. Leckonby’s remarks, Colonel Burns made the following motion, seconded by Colonel McQueeney:
