- Member, Citadel Legal Studies Committee (Fall 2016–Fall 2019)

Student Mentorship and Advising

Academic Advising

- Primary academic adviser for approximately 300 undergraduate students in Intelligence and Security Studies (2017–2022), with advising loads ranging from 8–39 students per semester.

Undergraduate Research Supervision

SURE Faculty Research Adviser

- Supervised undergraduate research projects in Intelligence and Security Studies (students: Karessa Hill; Dallin Edwards).
- Directed a research project on a 1938 double-homicide cold case, conducted in collaboration with former investigators and in consultation with the former Director of the Mississippi Bureau of Investigation Cold Case Unit.
- Project received endorsement from the Interim Chief of Police and Department Historian, Berkeley (CA) Police Department, and resulted in a Cold Case investigative notebook designed to support potential case reopening by law enforcement.

Experiential Learning and Programmatic Leadership

Day of Intrigue — Intelligence Simulation and Wargaming Program

Founder and Program Director (University of Mississippi; The Citadel)

- Co-founded Day of Intrigue at the University of Mississippi, in partnership with faculty colleagues, as a multi-day intelligence and policymaking simulation designed to train students in analytic tradecraft, interagency coordination, and intelligence–policy dynamics.
- Provided continuity of leadership and programmatic vision as Day of Intrigue evolved across institutions and formats, serving as the principal faculty link from its inception to its current implementation.
- Led the integration of Day of Intrigue into Leadership Day programming at The Citadel (2019; 2022), embedding the simulation within a broader professional development event developed collaboratively with departmental colleagues and Intelligence Community participants.
- Directed Day of Intrigue as a standalone wargaming program at The Citadel (2024–2025), working with faculty colleagues and external partners to expand the exercise into a nationally networked, scenario-driven intelligence simulation:
  - 2024 — Arctic Security Focus, conducted with support from the Ted Stevens Center for Arctic Security Studies.
  - 2025 — Taiwan Contingency Simulation, developed collaboratively with academic, practitioner, and private-sector partners to examine escalation dynamics and intelligence decision-making in a Taiwan invasion scenario.
- Across iterations, Day of Intrigue has involved government practitioners from CIA, NSA, DIA, FBI, ODNI, the U.S. Department of Defense, U.S. Congress, the White House, and allied partners, as well as private sector participation from Anthropic, General Matter, Saronic, and Wraithwatch. Day of Intrigue has informed analytic training discussions and practices within the Intelligence Community Centers for Academic Excellence.

Additional Experiential Learning

- Team Leader, NUARI Critical Infrastructure Tabletop Exercise for Students (February 2022).
- Organizer and Lead, Citadel Day of Intrigue, one-day intelligence wargame for Intelligence and Security Studies students (Fall 2018), with participation from CIA, NSA, DIA, and FBI.

SERVICE TO THE DISCIPLINE

National and International Leadership

- Vice President, Intelligence Studies Section, International Studies Association (ISA) (2025–present)
- Program Co-Chair, Intelligence Studies Section, International Studies Association (ISA) (2021–2025)
  - Co-led peer review of paper and panel proposals and developed the annual conference program for ISA’s Intelligence Studies Section, the field’s premier international research forum.
  - Served within a multi-year leadership succession structure; scheduled to assume section leadership (2028–2030).

Editorial and Scholarly Service

- Editor, H-Diplo, Intelligence Studies (2024–present)
- Commissioning Editor, H-Diplo | Robert Jervis International Security Studies Forum (RJISSF) (2024–present)
- Manuscript and proposal reviewer, Georgetown University Press; Rowman & Littlefield
- Peer reviewer, Intelligence and National Security; Journal of Strategic Studies; Security Studies; Journal of Cold War Studies; International Journal of Intelligence and Counterintelligence

Professional Associations and Advisory Roles

- Board Member and Membership Coordinator, International Association for Intelligence Educators (2016–2019)

American Council on Education — Military Curriculum Reviews

- Intelligence Studies Taxonomy Review (virtual), December 2020
- Fort Huachuca Intelligence Curriculum Review (on site), January 2020
- Fort Gordon Intelligence Personnel Review (on site), May 2019
- Quantico Marine Corps Curriculum Review (virtual), October–November 2017
